Week 6 July 24 - July 28

Our Wonderful Week

Dear Alouette Parents!

Our weeks just keep getting better and better as the summer goes on! In each activity, we have lot of fun and every girl leaves with a smile!

In Arts and Crafts this week, some of the girls finished up their clay bowls. Be on the look out for your daughter bringing home her one of a kind bowl! If your camper already finished her bowl, she was able to learn how to make different kinds of friendship bracelets! It was so nice to see the campers give their friends different bracelets. Some of them even gave them to the counselors and me!

In Nature we learned all about how forest fires start and keep growing. The cool part about learning this was we also got to learn how to put one out and what the best chemicals to use are. The A girls also got to learn how to make soda fly up in the air. Ask your Alouette about this cool experiment!

In Science this week, we moved on from Chemistry to Physics. It seems hard when you say it like that. The girls picked up on it easily! They got to make their very own crane lever that would pick up a basket that had a toy car in it! It was a sight to see them try to figure it out.

The Alouettes had the most fun in Drama this week where we did some team building activities! The girls had to start in groups of 6 where they would each grab someone else's hand in the group and create a knot. Once the knot was created, the campers had to figure out how to unravel themselves! Once two groups figured it out they would have to join up and unravel an even bigger knot.

Words cannot explain how creative the Alouettes are. Each group came up with great ideas for our Carnival booths. AG1 had a booth where campers could make a paper flower to give to a counselor. AG2 had campers guess how many Starbursts were in a jar. AG3 did a game where campers had to figure out which lily pad had the number under it. If they got it right, the camper won a prize!

I cannot wait for the next two weeks to see what they bring! |
